Transplanting & Direct Seeding

The next Gardening Workshop Presented by the Master Gardeners

May 14, 2008

6:00-8:00 p.m. – 4-H Office

PLEASE RSVP BY MAY 12, 2008

Are your window sills and the top of your refrigerator getting permanent stains from the seedling trays you've been nursing there, anxiously awaiting that magical date, May 15th, the official average last frost date for Lake County?

Are your seedlings getting so leggy, you're worried they're gonna walk away over night? Or did you just plop them in the ground in darwinian fashion, hoping the fittest will survive... Or, did you, as I tend to do, produce twice as many seedlings as you need, to make up for potential casualties of your impatience with the weather? Either way, you'll benefit from our next workshop on Transplanting and Direct Seeding, because no matter what you did or got away with - there's always room for improvement! So join Cornelia and friends at 6 pm on the 14th in getting to the root of the matter.

CLUB REPORTS

Scotts Valley 4-H Club

In these past few months we have been doing many events. In the fall we did a leaf raking fundraiser and had a few members participate in the Murder Mystery Dinner. During Christmas season, we held a Christmas party at which we had a bake sale auction, and all of the money we raised went to the food cupboard. The Blue Heron group also joined us. We also did the Avenue of Lights and our display got 3rd place. Now we are holding our regular monthly meetings and preparing for fair. Thank you so much!!

Cole Creek 4-H Club

Hi, This is Joy Bennett reporting for the Cole Creek 4-H Club's 5th year. We offer 15 different projects for our members and 9 project leaders. In January we had a candle fundraiser. In February & March we had the Human Race fundraiser. For the County Presentation Day Shea Odom received a gold medal and a plaque for Home Economics. Tyler Nolan and Grace Nowak received the silver award.

In January, the members of our Horse and Pony project helped groom, exercise, water, feed and clean stalls for 9 rescue horses at the fairgrounds that were moved there because of flooding. In February, the members in our Art Project went to the Grace Hudson Museum in Ukiah where we learned a lot about her life as an artist. We had an art class in the conference room following the tour.

Eight kids attended and participated in the Santa Rosa rabbit show in January. Back in November, our club helped set-tables and serve dessert for the LCCHE Thanksgiving Dinner. At the Saw Shop restaurant the horse project helped with a silent auction and handed out raffle prizes for the benefit dinner for Soda Bay, a county-owned rescue horse. In December, our club had a Christmas Party at Benjamino's Pizza Place and exchanged ornaments and cookies. The same day we decorated a float for the Christmas Light Parade. There were 30 of us on the float with goats and dogs and several kids walking by the float throwing candy. We all sang Christmas songs and had lots of fun!!

On April 26th, several members will attend the Potter Valley Rabbit Show. And May 17th, several members will attend the Meat Goat show in Ukiah. This year our officers have been working on being organized and learning how to run a smooth and efficient club meeting. The Cole Creek 4-H Club has gone from 11 members to 30 members in just one year. We are growing and learning, more each year.

Textile Day 2008

By: Asia Jones

On March 29th we had a wonderful textile day at the Little Theater on the Lake Co. fair grounds. "Wow! This is going to be really fun" is what I thought when I walked into building. It turns out I was right! At first we got everything set up and displayed our projects. Then we wrote down what the stage host was going to say while we modeled our outfits. After that we went to the dressing room while our projects were judged and got our make-up done by Janice Hornby. Soon our garments were done being judged so Faith Hornby, Taylor Robbins, Adrianna Guardado, Morgan Campbell and Rachel Weiss and I got into our outfits and ready to go on stage. The modeling was the best. Then the judges scored us again. While that was happening we played games like How Fast Can you Thread the Sewing Machine, Identify the Fabric, and What are These Tools. Somebody threaded the sewing machine in 14.5 seconds! When the results were in, everybody went up to get a certificate and a very shiny medal for their hat! We all had a great time!
